Prusavar. - The March number of the Friend informs us that Mr. Goo. Lathrop-second son of Dr. from A. Lathran, who in former years occupied the position of U. S. Coneniar Physician at this port, and was afterward U. S. Vice Consul-was married in Landon reconfly to a daughter of the late Nathaniel Hawtherne, the well-known American author. The room is a native of this city, and is said to pos-overy takent of a high-order.

THE KILAURA returned on Sunday morning from a servessful trip around Hawaii, the weather having been pleasant throughout. She brought no news of been pleasant throughout. She brought no news of importance beyond the fact that a great scarcity of water still continues at Hilo, which has seriously impeded the work on the plantations in that vicinity. Should the trades, which set in on Sun-day morning, continue with any regularity, it is not probable that the want of rain there will con-tinue much longer. The steamer makes the trip to Koca during the present week, and leaves for Hilo and intermediate ports next Monday.

To BE REPAIRED.-We understand that the surveroes Captains Smith and McIntyre, and Mr. Geo. Etumes) have reported favorably upon the condition of the British ship Devoushire, which arrived here acceral weeks since in distress, and consider her wor-thy of being repaired. She has been pronounced a ambetantially built vessel, but has been allowed to run ambriantially built vessel, but has been allowed to run foe long without repairs, and she now requires refastening and re-enalking throughout. If the amount necessary for repairing her cannot be obtained upon a lottomy on the vessel, the work will be delayed nutil advices are received from her owners.

THE DEVONSHIRE'S CARGO.—The large cargo of lumber recently discharged from the Devonshire, amounting to nearly a million feet, which is stored on the newly made portion of the explanade, unkal of the Court House, occupies a larger space than any eage that has ever been landed here, and with the lumber stready stored clsewhere in that locality. gives that part of the town the appearance of an im-mense lumber yard. As the ship will probably be repaired, she will receive the same cargo again for its original destination. Had the Devonshire gone to a cry-dock with that cargo on board, it is more in probable that vessel and cargo would never we left the dock together.

per Kackes, which appears on Saturday next, informs at that it will contain among other novelice to please the nativer, a spirited purtrait of the Emperor William. of Germany, who will be 73 years old on the 22d of this must. Ascompanying the picture will be given the farmers German fattle Song, "The Watch on the Khies." does into spirited Hawaiian and English, and set to music. We notice that the circulation of the Known has become very large, the edition for the present week being 3,500. We can't say how many are paid for by the eager subscribers to it.

By an advertisement to our columns it will be seen that an Ice Cream and Strawberry festival will be held in the basement of Fort Street Church on Thursday evening, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the purchase of a plano for the ladies parlur, to sad to the attractions of the social entertal ments given by the different societies who hold meetings there. As the ladies in charge are famous for the good quality of the refreshments on sale at these affairs, and the object one of interest to a large number in our community, we predict a success for the ladies and a pleasant evening for their patrons.

MESARETHOSCOPE.-We understand that at the festival at Fort Street Church on Thursday evening one of these instruments will be exhibited. We have had an opportunity of seeing the views shown | and in Europe." in this one and can pronounce them something rein the one and can pronounce them something remarkable. The transparency views showing the interior of the Palace of the Doges, Venice, the craption of Venevius, and the Illumination of the Cathedrais at Milan and St. Peters at Rome, with a continuity of the explorations of this Expedition. The article is cutified, "The Wonders of the Yellowstone," and is well as wonderfully brought out. We also hear that one of our morehants with a rare taste for things "queer" will add something to the entertainment.

EASTERN MAILS. - Should the San Francisco steam er arrive this week as we are led to expect, we will be be sure, "e pur se muore," but now and then it favored with a mail in less time than since the last, or for several months previous. Heretofare, the departure of a sailing packet or transient vessel from San Francisco, between the trips of the steamer, gave as a mall about twice a month, but that has become Tare. For some time, they all leave within a few schooner Nettie Merrill arrived with her flag at days of each other, and should a purket leave with half-mast, and the news second that one worth a mail in advance of the steamer, the chances always are that the former generally arrives a week after the

The Ball at the Horst.—The subscription entertainment on Friday evening last, at the Hawaiian Hotel was a decided success in every respect. There were present on the occasion about two hundred and fifty guests, every one of whom appeared to enjoy themselves, and many of whom we have beard and fifty guests, and many of whom we have beard succession formed on Friday last at 21% of the deceased.

COARTERS AND THE WEATHER. - The weather doring the last week has beer more unfavorable for the coasting business than at any time during the past five months, or since the regular trades have ceased. Vessels that left here last Wednesday and Thursday were becalmed in sight of port nearly forty-eight hours, and others have been nearly a week making a trip that would be accomplished with favorable weather in less than twenty-four hours. On Sunday morning the trades set in fresh with every prospect of continuing, which was an agreeable change to the recent sullry weather, but they subsided into the south-east.

The chief mourners on this sad and solemn octhe next day with every appearance of another spell of light weather. Persons who are compelled to take passage an coasters will hardly be credited if they consider that owners or agents make any real profit of those who patronise their vessels, although both classes have a right under the circumstances, to be dissatisfied. The benefit of travelling by steam has probably naver been more favorably imprecied upon those who have preferred to travel by sailing vessels, then during the past few months.

The chief mourners on this sad and solemn occasion were the aged widow of the decessed and their youngest son, lately returned from the United States.

For twenty-one years Sheriff of the Island of Maui, Mr. Treadway was identified with every measure that tended to promote progress, good order and civilization in this country. Strong as a lion, firm as a rock, his heart was ever soft for

THE ESPLANADE .- Any one who has not visited is portion of the city-front of late, especially beyond the Kilauca's wharf, will observe that it has undergone a considerable change within a few weeks, and that improvements are still in progress. The addition which is being made to what was formerly the wharf 8 ST AM for the Australian steamers, is rapidly approaching completion. It is now about four hundred feet long and will yet receive considerable addition, making the entire length of the wharf, when finished, nearly five hundred feet, which will furnish sufficient accommudation for several large ships alongside at the same time. A sen-wall, about half the distance, is built on the manks side of the pier, part of which is already filled in with the mud brought from the bottom of the harbor by the excavator, in a line beyond and reaching the premises occupied by Fosters ships-yard.

Romsenes -- On Friday evening last a Chinese cook, in the employ of a family in town, while absent Dickson on Fort Street, which for artistic merit we from his room (on the premises where he was emhave not seen excelled in this country or any other.

Those having friends and acquaintances desiring to visit this country, should send them a copy of this ting it to his mother in Chine. It appears that he had called upon a couple of friends in another part of the town, and at about half-past eight o'clock of the town, and at about unit-past eight o'clock in the evening remarked that he would go home, but his friends urged him to remain as they wished to talk with him. After some persuasion he con-sented to remain, whereupon one of his friends made excuses and left the room and did not return made excuses and left the room and did not return during the evening. Upon arrival at his own room at a somewhat late hour, he found the door had been forced open and the trank in which his money was kept broken into and the money taken. He has some idea that the friends whom he visited had something to do with the robbery—Very likely. On Salurday evening the dwelling-house of Mr. Fischer on Hotel Street was entered by burgiars and some articles of clothing taken. The family were sleeping in the room entered by the burgiars.

CONPLAGRATIONS AGAIN PREVENTED. -On Friday norning, the frame building adjoining the office of the Water Works, at the foot of Nananu Street, and known as the "Old Ice House," but now occupied as the "Hawaiian Restaurant," narrowly escaped becoming the scene of a configration similar to that which occurred upon the same spot during the memorable fall of 1852. Some careless individual connected with the establishment, it appears, hung a piece of clothing near a stove pipe, and a fire having been kindled the article caught fire and was about communicating with the dry wood work overhead, when the blaze was observed from the street by persons passing, through whose timely assistance by persons passing, through whose timely assistance a serious fire was prevented. Another instance occurred on Numanu Street on Priday night which was surmised to be the work of an incendiary. Near midulght, a polleeman observed a suspicious light in the rear of the premises occupied by Hollister's Soda Water Manufactory, and ascertaining the canse, the immediately airmed the neighborhood. Several persons were quickly upon the spot and the fire was easily extinguished without a general alarm being strock, although some one started for "No. Four's" strock, although some one started for "No. Four's" engine house for that purpose, but found the door locked. Like the incendary attempt made in Ross Lane a few weeks ago, it was fortunately discovered in the nick of time to prevent a disastrous fire.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS .- Among the passengers by the D. C. Murray, from San Francisco, were Messrs. Clarence King and Arnold Hague. These contiemen have been for several years connected with what is called the "Fortieth Parallel Exploring Expedition," a party of scientific gentlemen sent out by the American Government to explore the wild tract of country lying between the River Missouri and the Pacific Ocean, on or near the Fortieth degree of Latitude. Of this Expedition, Mr. King is the honored head, and Mr. Hegue is an assistant. They received leave of absence for the winter mouths, during which the work is necessarily supposed. volumes of reports, over $300,000, according to a statement made by Gen. Garfield in Congress, lately. Some idea of the value and character of the work in which these gentlemen are engaged may be gathered from the following item from the Washington correspondence of the New York Hendd:

"CLARENCE KING'S REPORT.—The available edi-tion of Clarence King's report of mining industry has been all distributed, and the Engineer Bureau has been all distributed, and the Engineer Sureau is besieged with applications for copies that it can not supply. Great care has been taken to guard against uscless expenditures of the costly volume, but the public great for free mining information goes far beyond the expectation founded on past experience. Only one thousand copies remain, and they are to be rigidly withheld for fature distribu-tion in sets when the whole five volumes of the re-ports shall be ready—say a couple of years hence. The volume on botany is out, and it will be followed The volume of botany is out, and it will be followed in as quick succession as possible by the reports on zoology and palentology, descriptive geology and systematic geology. Spiendid illustrations accompany the several volumes. These works are the results of the geological exploration of the fortieth parallel, that Mr. King has been prosecuting under the Engineer Department and by authority of Congress for several years, and which has awakened a lively interest in scientific and industrial circles here and in Europe."

LAHAINA, March 2, 1872. FRIEND EDITOR: The world moves slowly, to would seem as if a mental paralysis had obstructed its motion and caused a sudden halt in everybody's every-day life. Such an occasion occurred here on Sunday afternoon last, when the good half-mast, and the news spread that our worthy and beloved townsman P. H. Treadway had died in Honolulu on the Wednesday previous. If you latter. The Comet, now thirty days out from here and doe about the 20th, will not be likely to bring any later news than the steamer.

In Honolain on the weenesday previous. It you have ever seen a beelive with the Queen-bee removed, you may form an idea of what Lahaina resembled when the sad news first fell on its that her present passage, under the circumstances, need excite no surprise. Sue is a vessel of 116 tons, and was purchased a short time before she salled by parties connected with the Navigator Island Coloniation Company, for $5,500, and is intended as a profect between those islands and San Francisco. She is loaded with an assorted cargo belonging to the company, valued at $11,000, which is destined for Paga Paga. The vessel touches here for letters and passengers that are awaiting her. by the widow and relatives of the family. On landing, the beach and adjacent lands were liter-

Mr. EDITOR: The last issue of the " Pacific Slasher" has given us in his weekly entertainment so varied an assortment of pieces de resistance to satisfy our appetite for the wonderful, and our admiration for the talent of his chef de cuisine in rehashing and dishing up the remains of his own artistic feasts, that he must be dainty or distrustful who is not satisfied with the appearance of the treat provided for him. I must confess that such is my own case, and that his feast is, to me. that of the Barmecide. I have gone drearily through the whole of the proffered repast but can not swallow an atom; the entire spread is so in-famously cooked that not a morsel will go down; the stomach absolutely revolts against it. The first large dish is still too tough, although it has been kept on hand and offered for consumption any time for years past; it ought by this time to be tender, but it is not, in spite of the drop of "oil of gammon" with which it was evidently thought it might be softened and coaxed down.

The second has altogether too much vinegar and assafetida in its composition, and although the peculiarity of the seasoning may suit some cared and abnormal appetites, it will not anawer for general comsumption. Again, his "steaming" apparatus is too much out of order to be depended upon; he is evidently totally unacquaint-ed with the first principles of the employment of steam in the art of cooking, and although he has in his own way made a dish that looks tolerably well to the eye, it will be found upon trying it that the steam man either knows nothing about his business, or else be is deliberately bent upon oisoning us.

This, one of the periodical entertainments of tangers the Slasher, is positively too suggestive of remark for me to do more than touch slightly upon some of its most conspicuous defects of commission; but that reminds me that there are also errors of omission and that had one or two real plain, wholesome, true articles of diet been set before us, we might have made an excellent and edifying ment, with comfort to ourselves and thanks to our entertainers. What I mean is this: there is more or less of truth generally less, however, in the Slasher's articles, but he is very partial in his attentions to his guests, and I would suggest two subjects that, if skilfully treated, would be enthually received by another portion of his cli-: The first is of a class of men, I will not say that they are numerous in our community who go gassing about the town in shirt sleeves, using strong, vehement words, and asseverations more forcible than edifying; in fact, most offensive to all ears except their own. Now, a good sound article in their behalf might much benefit them and remove a source of annoyance to their neighbors. The second is on a class of, I will not say "other criminals," but something very nearly allied to criminals, who, for their own base lucre, by the open sale of the vilest and most destructive cosmetics punder to the gratification of the vanity, and consequently to the disfigurement and too frequently moral ruin of many of those maidens and matrons who are unfortunately seduced

The Late R. G. Davis,

We copy from the Send-Weekly Advertiser of yesterday, the following notice of the late R. G. Davis "Judge Davis was a native of these islands, but searly youth was sent to the United States, where he received a thorough classical education, and after wards traveled for some time in Europe, acquiring with remarkable facility the French and Spanish languages, to which he subsequently added some considerable knowledge of the German. Returning to the islands he embarked in uncreantile pursuits, with varying success, until in 1852 he took up the study of law. Gifted by nature with a clear and logical relation of the study of law. mind and quickness of perception, he applied him-self with earnest industry to the study, and in a re-markably brief period could with truth be termed a marsay very period cond with this or terricular well read lawyer. On the 15th of February, 1894, he was uppointed Second Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, the laborious duties of which position he discharged with distinguished ability during his incumbency, which continued antil July 7th, 1895. SHIPPING NEWS.

The bark D. C. Morray leaves to day for San Francisco, and although she has been detained three days over the advertised date of sailing, owing to the movements of the constors with freight from the other islands having met with unusual delay, she has had very fair dispatch, remaining in port but II days. The Am, clipper back Alden Besse arrived at noon esterday from Portland, en route for Hong Keng with a cargo of flowr and sixty Chinese passengers. She left Columbia River Feb. 4th, thence had light variable weather to lat. 31 and was becalined three days, since when had light winds from the southward days, since when had light winds from the southwars until eighting Hawaii at daylight on Monday, and fresh trades to the Molokai Channel, moderating and hanling to southeast a few hours previous to arrival. Bering Sunday, while the trades were blowing here quite fresh, the bark was becamed the whole day, showing that they did not reach a great distance of showing that they did not reach a great distance of the land. She sighted no vessels during the passage. By last advices, the brig Percy Edwards was re-ported to leave San Francisco between the 15th and 20th lat. for the Amoor River, and will probably touch at this port on route.

The Brit, brig Susan has been labt on for Hongkong

A new clipper schooner of 120 tons, called the Loli-ta, built at Scattie, Washington Territory, made her first trip to San Francisco recently, and on her return to Scattle, was to be put on the route between that port and Honolulu as a panket.

The Brit, ship Adriatic, of 3,670 tons register, re-cently arrived at San Francisco from Liverpool and reported very severe weather in the Atlantic and off Cape Horn. She was off the Cape four weeks with a succession of violent gales from west to northwest, during which had minure topgallant and main and fore-topmasts sprung and yards carried away, besides receiving various other damage. The Adriatic is re-ported to be the largest vessel, except the ship freet Republic, that ever entered the port of San Francisco. She was formerly one of the steamships of the Col-line' Line.
